> THE ACADEMY.-The second entertainmen of the Templeton troupe drew a large hous last evening. The play of "East Lynne" is "a celebrated emotional and sensational story." It is likewise "a great moral drams and plo ture of domestic life." Being all these things, it can be made very effective: The perform ers last night all knew their parts, and the play seemed to amuse the audience very much. The wonderful feats of the Leon Brothers on the trapeze elicited unbounded applause which, as an exhibition of remarkable skill strength and agility, they fully deserved. The dancing and singing of little "May-the-Fay" followed. This juvenile actress really displays very striking cleverness. The performance concluded with the "Fool of the Family," a very amusing though somewhat broad farce, which was exceedingly well acted by Miss Jennie Worrell and Mr. Harry Jackson. A varied programme is announced for to-night
